

Explanation of terms in declaration

In the declaration in Section 4:

"Nuclear explosive activity" includes research on or development, design, manufacture construction, testing or maintenance of any nuclear explosive device or components of subsystems of such a device.

"Unsafeguarded nuclear fuel-cycle activity" includes research on or development, design, manufacture, construction, operation or maintenance of any reactor, critical facility, conversion plant, fabrication plant, reprocessing plant, plant for the separation of isotopes of source or special fissionable material, or separate storage installation, where there is no obligation to accept IAEA safeguards at the relevant facility or installation, existing or future, when it contains any source or special fissionable material; or of any heavy water production plant where there is no obligation to accept IAEA safeguards on any nuclear material produced by or used in connection with any heavy water produced therefrom; or where any such obligation is not met.

Does the end-user have to complete the form in English?

Each EEU, official purchase order or copy of the relevant part of the contract covering the order must be written in English or, if written in a foreign language, must be accompanied by an English translation. Every English translation must be verified by the proprietor of the business applying for a licence, or a partner, director or company secretary of the firm, or anyone authorised to sign the licence application. Alternatively, if you prefer, translations may be verified by a member of the Institute of Translators or a Notary Public.

How should the end-user authenticate the form?

Each page of the submitted form must contain an original signature and be dated. We cannot accept copies, faxes or e-mails. With each completed form, the end-user or consignee must provide a covering letter on their headed stationery. Again, we cannot accept copies, faxes or e-mails. The letter must be signed and dated by the same signatory who has completed and signed the form. A model covering letter is provided at Annex A to the form.

When should the end-user complete the form?

If possible, you (the UK exporter) should send the completed form with your licence application. If you obtain the undertaking before you are ready to submit your application, we will normally accept EEU's as valid for up to six months after signature. We cannot process your application without an EEU: we are willing to start work on the basis of a copy or fax, but we will need the original signed undertaking before we can issue a licence.

NOTES

Section 1: Parties

- a) The exporter should be the person or firm who makes the licence application
- b) The exporter's reference can be completed by the exporter
- c) d) The consignee is the person or body to whom the goods are to be sent. If the consignee is the same as the end-user, (d) can be left blank
- e)-h) The end-user details should be those of the person or body who will receive the goods for end-use

Section 2: Goods

We need to understand what the goods are and to be able to compare them with the goods described the licence application. We need a detailed description of the main item or items. If, for example, the main item or items are accompanied by a long list of spares or accessories, you should indicate this, but it may not need to spell out all the items individually. If the goods are spares, components or accessories, you should indicate what they are to be used for, and describe clearly the item in or with which they will be used (e.g. turbine blades for XX engine for YY aircraft)

Section 3: Purpose of the goods

If the goods are to be incorporated into another product, then that product - and its use - should also be described.

Section 4: End-user undertaking

To be completed by the body or person, in the country of ultimate destination, who will make final use of the goods.

Section 5: Consignee undertaking

If section 4 cannot be completed, this section must be completed by the person or body to whom the goods are to be sent.
